SERVICE EXCEPTIONNEL

From A to B, organised from A to Z throughout Europe

Exceptional transport throughout Europe is a complicated business, which can be met with many obstacles along the way. In a literal, but also in a bureaucratic sense. As a transport company you must be able to rely on the perfect organisation of the necessary permits/exemptions. You can leave this to the experts at European Permit Service.

It is not a coincidence that the word 'service' is in our name. We have a reputation with our customers for providing exceptional service, with which we have been distinguishing ourselves in the market since 1992. Need a last-minute permit? Explore an alternative route? Unexpected transport delays due to a calamity? Immediate need for an escort car? You can count on EPS. We take action immediately and help your transport to get on the road fast... throughout Europe.

SERVICE EXCEPTIONNEL

Exceptional expertise

European Permit Service has all the required knowledge, experience and (local) contacts to ensure a smooth and trouble-free exceptional transport for you. We can advise on the essential government requirements for exceptional transport. Take care of all the permits and other necessary documents. And if desired provide the route survey and organise one or more escort cars. You can be on the road quickly and confidently. This way, EPS helps you to keep your commitments to your suppliers.

Exceptional contacts

While some processes have been streamlined within the EU, European countries often still have different requirements, rules and application procedures for exceptional transport. The experts at EPS know this field like no other. They faultlessly know their way within the complex rules and regulations, carefully monitor current legislation and have the right contacts within government organisations. Thanks to our open lines of communication with all the relevant organisations in numerous European countries we can arrange everything quickly, which makes it possible for you to be on the road as soon as possible.

Exceptional speed

As a transport company you will face a range of questions in planning exceptional transport, such as:

- Does my exceptional transport require a permit?
- Will an escort car be required?
- Is a special kind of signalling required?
- Are special signs and beacons required?
- Are there other measures to be taken?

Our experts provide the right answers and in doing so consider all the relevant parameters and requirements that are set for you as the shipping agent. Our many years of experience enable us to rapidly arrange all the required documents for you. After all, time is money.

Even the smallest stamp is of vital importance

Permits

Arranging exceptional transport from A to B is a complicated matter. Each transport is different and European countries all have their own rules, legislation and application procedures. Even the most experienced shipping agent can easily get lost in the bureaucratic maze. What if you check an incorrect box or miss that one 'little stamp'. Do not take any risks. Leave it to the experts at EPS who have dealt with these complex procedures thousands of times before. They ensure that you as the transport company will have all the required documents in your hands on time.

Always carrying the right 'papers'

- National and international Permits
- Incidental and long-term Permits
- Heavy Transport Statements
- Exemption Certificates
- SERT documents
- Ficha Tecnica en of Ficha Reducida (ES)
- Scheda Tecnica (IT)
- Fiche Techniques (FR)
- TUV Gutachten en §70 StVO (DE)

Being well-prepared means you are already halfway there

Signalling & Marker boards

It is crucial that your vehicle signalling complies with all applicable regulations. For security. But also to prevent being stopped by the police unnecessarily. Different requirements often apply in different European countries. Think of the different colours and sizes of marker boards and flashing lights. Furthermore, individual countries regularly amend this kind of legislation. It is impossible even for very experienced transport companies to keep abreast of these developments themselves.

To EPS it is all in a day's work. We are constantly monitoring the situation. That way, we can compile a complete and fitting signalling package for you, compliant with European rules and current guidelines and has CE certification. That gives you the security that nothing was overlooked. A reassuring thought. You can also order the materials for your signalling package in our web shop.

An experienced guide is the safest choice

Exceptional transport, escort and route survey

An exceptional transport can be so exceptional that a thorough route survey is necessary before the permits can be applied for. Planning the most efficient route depends on the physical distance, travelling time and of course the possible obstacles along the way. The specific parameters that apply to the countries on the transport route are considered here too.

In order to do this EPS has excellent contacts in every country and open lines of communication with ministries, government offices and private organisations. They are aware of the current local situations and opportunities. With this information and our international network of agents and supervisors we know upfront where to expect possible bottlenecks and investigate whether street furniture and other obstacles should be removed. If not, we offer alternative routes. Of course, we determine together with you what the priorities are.

The same supervisors for the entire route

The same people continue to supervise the transport in cross-border routes, which is something that transport companies and drivers really appreciate. It increases the level of security because a single team that knows all the details works together for the whole journey. Not having to change supervisors at every border crossing also ensures greater efficiency and security.

Everything you need for the most efficient route

- Drafting a route schedule
- (Cross-border) exceptional transport escort car
- Other measures to be taken (removing street furniture, providing parking restrictions, roadblocks e.g.)

The latest road information

Arranging an exceptional transport requires days of detailed preparations and often hefty investments. That means that you do not want any unpleasant surprises when you are on the road. That is why we notify the transport company in time of crucial road news, such as driving bans.

Exceptional satisfaction

A successful exceptional transport and, consequently, satisfied customers, is our goal. It is precisely because our services are based on trust, that EPS now has a substantial and loyal customer base.

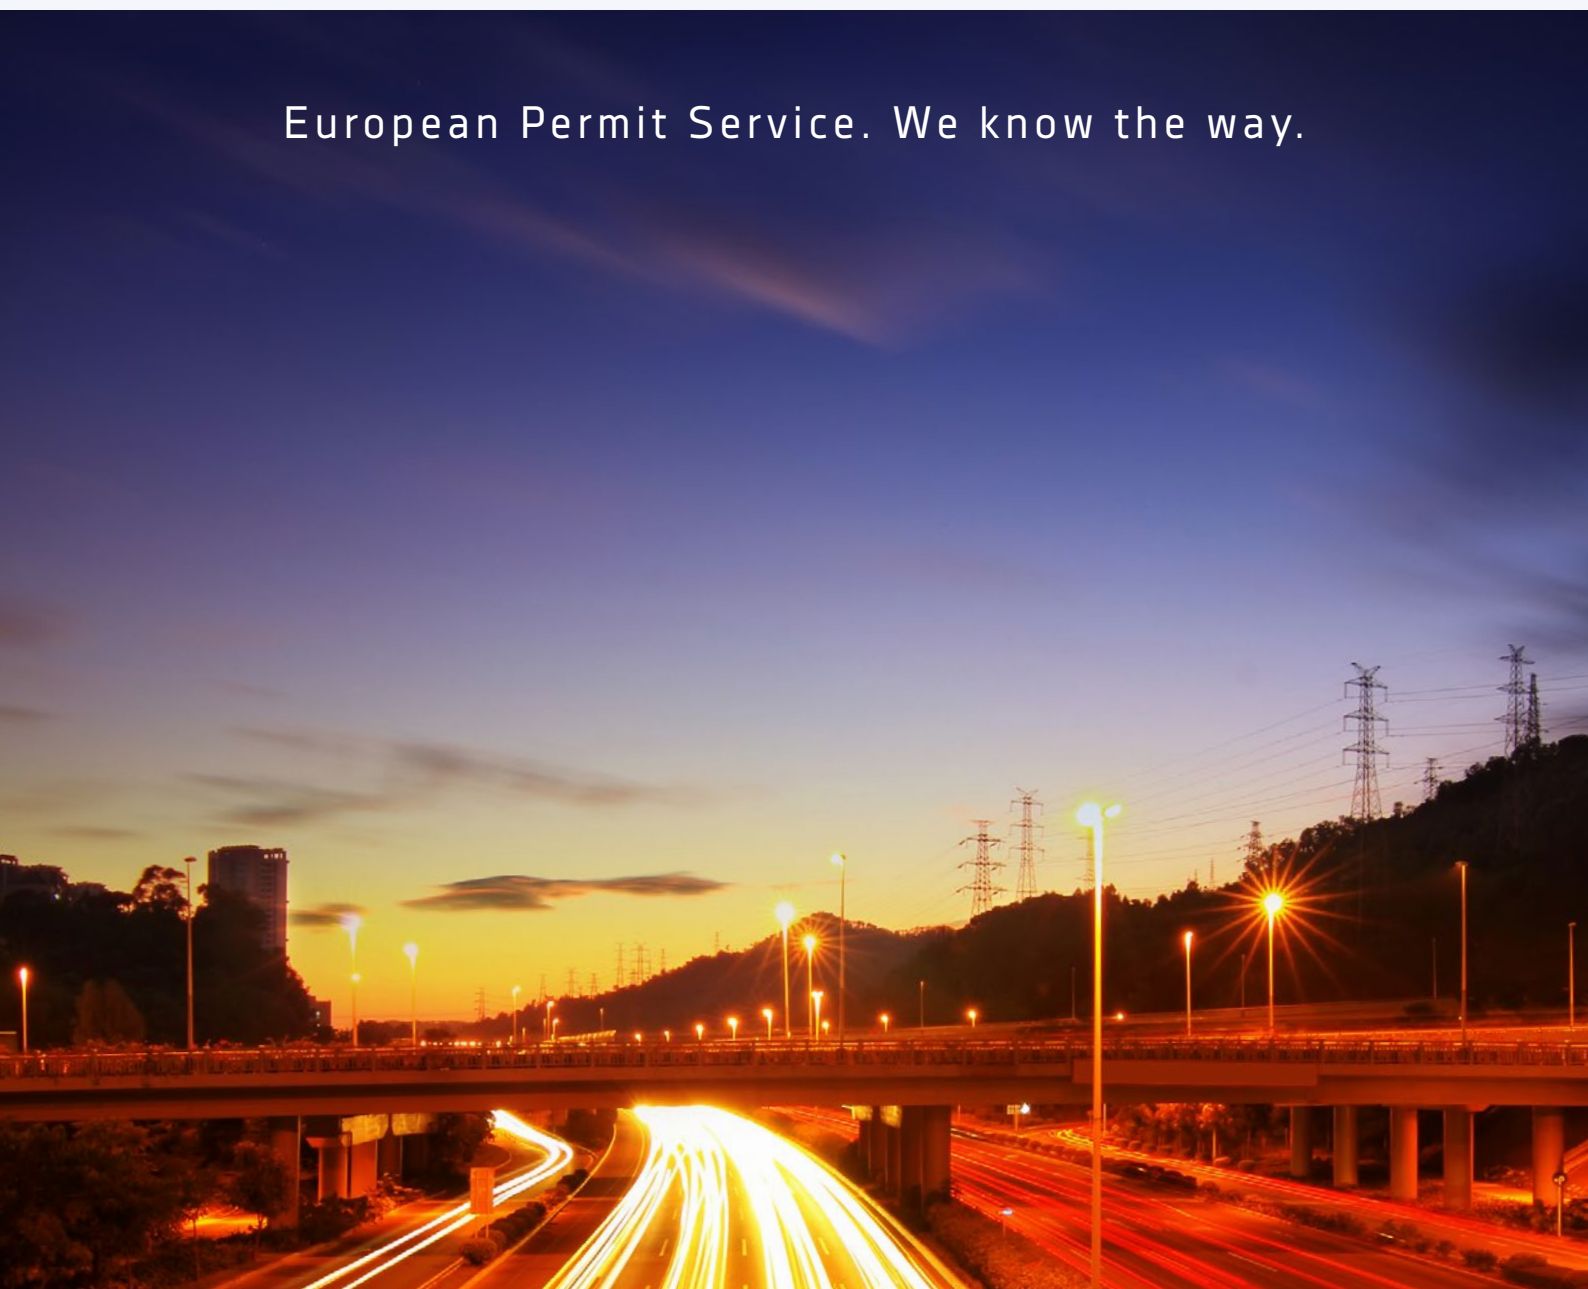

Take a 'test drive'

Prevent unpleasant surprises along the way. Let EPS arrange your permits too and if desired, the route survey and escort cars. That saves you a lot of aggravation, worries and time. And in the end it will gain you the compliments of your clients. Experience the convenience of our service and take a 'test drive': we invite you to contact us without any obligations. Ask for the possibilities and the value for money that we offer.
